When to Start Playing.
There has been much discussion as to what age a boy should start in to play football. Personally, I think it depends somewhat on the size of the boy, but I am not in favor of any boy starting at too tender an age.
I started when I was fourteen years old. Nobody else on the same team with me was under seventeen, but I was big and heavy for my age. Had I to do it over again, I think I would have waited until I was sixteen, at least. The time a fellow wants to be at his best is during his eligible years at college, and too early a start is apt to make a man go stale the latter part of his college career.
As I look back over my schoolboy football days, the most striking recollection is of the crudeness of the plays and players contrasted with college football. I can remember very well that about all I did in the offense was to carry the ball. I would carry the ball probably two-thirds of the time, and the other third I would spend in resting. Now in college football every man works three-thirds the time. If it so happens that a man on the offense carries the ball one-third of the time or one-half of the time, then the rest of the time that he is not carrying the ball is used in interfering it. Interference is seldom learned by a back in high school, but it must be learned if one is to be successful as a college back.—(Copyright, Wheeler Syndicate.)

TOOK 14 INNINGS

Sox Triumphed Again Over
Dodgers in Great Game.The Final Score of Second Clash Was 2 to 1.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 10.—Boston's Red Sox took the second game of the world's series from the Brooklyn Dodgers here Monday in the longest and one of the most sensational struggles of the historic title. For fourteen innings the teams battled tooth and nail. In the stands more than 41,000 men and women alternately sat breathless expecting to see the winning run go over any minute, or cheered themselves hoarse as some wonderful play nipped a rally.
Brooklyn's only run was scored by Myers on a terrific smash in the first inning. For Boston another long distance smash counted for their first run when Scott cracked a triple to left in the third inning. Cuthaw then made a costly bobbie and Scott came in on Ruth's infield out.

Darkness threatened. It was growing dark when the issue was finally settled after two hours and forty-nine minutes of incessant fighting. Hoblitzel went down to first on a base on balls, his fourth of the afternoon. Lewis sacrificed him to second and Boss Carrigan then showed a fine strategy—at least it was successful—by sending in Gainer to pinch hit for Gardner while the fleet footed McNally went in to run for Hoblitzel. The count was one and one on Gainer and the crowd sat breathless waiting for the turn.

Sherrard Smith, who had pitched peerless ball through the afternoon, sent his fast one cutting thru the gloom toward the plate. Gainer was set for it. He swung his heavy club. There was a crash. The ball sped over Olson's head. Wheat came tearing in and it seemed that he might reach it. But it was a safe hit.

Exciting Moments.
McNally was tearing around third. The crowd, yelling like mad, jumped to its feet. Wheat recovered and the ball came and made a mighty heave toward the plate. Miller aside his mark and arms outstretched as McNally bore down on him. The Red Sox runner left his feet, slid over the pan at the instant the ball settled in against the mitt and the game was over. It was evident that Boston was aroused by the fighting spirit displayed by the Dodgers and they turned out by great numbers to see the struggle.

The Dodgers lived up to their reputation made in Saturday's stirring ninth inning. They fought as few teams would have. It was a hard game for any team to lose. Boston's infielders flashed and sparked in their work of supporting Ruth.
Smith's Pitching.
Despite the fact that Smith lost, he will go down in baseball history as having twirled a great contest. Umpires' decisions went against the Dodgers in the second game. In the seventh Myers, the first man up, shot a hot one to Janvrin. The Red Sox second sacker juggled it and Myers seemed safe by a foot. Umpire Quigley called him out, however. The Dodgers rushed from their bench and the entire crowd arose. Boston and Brooklyn adhered to their support the boys from Flatbush in their protest. It was unavailing, however, and when the next two men went out in order, one of the many chances to put over another run so badly needed, was gone.

On the Brink.
The Dodgers now are battling with backs against the wall. But just another slip and they don't have far to fall.

As much as the lover and the booster of the under dog may desire, the chance for Brooklyn to take the championship from the "Kultur Kids" seems slim.

The psychological effect of Monday's fourteen inning game is bound to show on the fighting spirit of the Brooklyn, and it is bound to give the Red Sox added confidence and added strength.

Had the Dodgers won Monday's game they could have gone home with heads up and with a feeling that they were as good as the opposition. But now they must contend with the odds against them and with the feeling that they must have luck to win.

A stranger, claiming Peoria as his home town and appearing deeply interested in baseball has been in Topeka this week, and his name is the local W. L. franchisee to the Illinois town.

So far as is known, there are no new developments in the local baseball situation, since John Savage announced that he would transfer the Topeka club elsewhere unless he found a buyer within fifteen days.

Within one month Jess Willard's contract with his circus will expire and the champion will be free to go where he pleases.

The truth of the matter is, there is no contender really worthy of a match with the big Kansas fighter.

Elmer Bear's High School warriors are scheduled to go to Ottawa Friday to take on the Ottawa H. S. team. The locals did not make a bad showing in their game with the heavier Manhattan squad and many of their followers were noted that they held up as well as they did.

Nebraska is getting the call all over the Valley this week as a result of the big score the Huskers piled up in the Drake eleven last Saturday. What are those boys going to be beatable again this season? A disgruntled K. U. man remarked today.

Fleider Jones says that if Jimmy Austin had been hurt last July the Browns would have won the American league pennant. And the Dodgers probably wish that Jimmy was copped.

Russell Ford, the famous old pitcher who was with the Denver W. L. club this season, has been purchased by Salt Lake. He is trying to climb back up to the big show.

RUTH HITS, ALSO

Red Sox Twirler Is Some Artist
With the Bat.He's One of Most Dangerous
Batters on Boston Club.

BY FRANK G. MENKE.

When "Babe" Ruth outlives his pitching usefulness he will find an outfielding job awaiting him. Were it not that he is such a stellar twirler, Bill Carrigan probably would have converted him into a gardener this year to fill the Tris Speaker gap in the Red Sox ranks.

Ruth is one of the greatest natural clubbers in the game. Of powerful build, with a fine eye and ability to place his drives, he is a power on the offense. There isn't a man on the Red Sox squad that an opposing pitcher dislikes more to face than this same Ruth. He is the real pinch clubber of the team; the man who usually is called upon to exude a hit or a long sacrifice fly in an emergency.

Ruth, as a fielder, is very good indeed. He likes that branch of the game and works out chasing cloud-tricklers whenever he can. He is fast for so huge a man and has a grand throwing arm.

A Tim Hurst Story.
One of the stories the late Tim Hurst used to delight to tell was one in which he was something of the goat.

Tim chased John McGraw from a game one day because he was using language that wasn't exactly "pretty."

Tom Jones, who swore by all that was holy, that Jess Willard didn't weigh more than 245 pounds two days before the Moran fight now claims that Willard has made $300,000 since he became champion. Willard weighed 259 on the night of the fight. Therefore, how much has Willard actually made?

Tom may not be kidding the folks this time—but $300,000 is a lot of money. Jess was supposed to have made from $1,000 to $1,200 a night last year while circling. Tom told us that. Someone else said that $500 a night was a good average.

But even if Jess did make what Tom says he has made, don't get the impression, gentle reader, that Jess has a bank roll of $300,000. Nay, nay, Jess gets only part of what he earns. If Jess has $150,000 stowed away he's doing well.

Yes, Tom gets his "bit" from the earnings of the big boy. It's general belief that Tom gets 25 per cent. Jack Curley, according to reports, gets about 10 per cent. For a while, Lawrence Weber and Harry Frazee, who financed the Havana affair, got a divvy. Willard later bought out their claim on him.

However, even if Tom was exaggerating a bit in naming $300,000, the fact can not be disputed that Willard, since he became champion, has earned more in a few months than any other champion in history.

Washburn-Friends Game Big
One in Kansas Conference.Championship May Be Decided in Tomorrow's Clash.

When the Quaker Friends, of Wichita, and the Washburn Ichabods meet in their first gridiron clash since 1912 at Island park in Wichita tomorrow afternoon, it may be that the championship of the Kansas conference will be settled.

The Ichabods, under the direction of the veteran coach, Kennedy, of K. U. and Haskell fame, are avowed candidates for the state honors, while the proteges of Dr. Banbury, since the remarkable showing they made against the Emporia Normals, have risen to a favorite's place in the race.

Dr. Kennedy and his Ichabods will leave tonight about 10 o'clock for the Peerless Princess, and nineteen blue and white warriors are scheduled to make the trip. Those who are to go are Captain Stewart, Trull, Callahan, Heller, Bailey, Logan, Wilson, Cox, Whitcomb, Dehn, Benton, Colby, Palmer, Sargent, Baker, Hope, McCosh, Champeny and Perry. Practically the same lineup will be used against the Quakers as was used against the Cooper team last Friday.

The Friends' Lineup.
Altho the Friends' lineup has not been definitely announced it is expected that the following front will face the Ichabods at the kick off: Peneger, re; Parr, rt; Holman, rg; Baird, o; Coppock, lg; Macey, lt; Brown, le; Crister, q; Simmons, rb; Wiggs, fb; Pearson, lb.
